The tower heights are unacceptable to maintain the rural and scenic beauty of NH. Our family hikes and so many of the vistas currently unspoiled by towers will be invaded. Either there are no lines in view or the tower heights are such that the trees camouflage their path. We climb Oak Hill in Concord most every weekend and the tower path would negatively impact the lovely view we have of the surrounding forest.

When we climb in other areas of NH, electrical lines are not visible and someone in our family has climbed all the 3000 footers in NH and all of the town high points so we are very much aware of the current vistas.

As alternative energy sources increase in use, the supposed benefits from this power which isn't even being sold to our state will decrease.

Bury the lines. Had they not spent all this money upfront trying to push through this damaging proposal they could have buried the lines along the entire existing corridor!
